BART'S THOUGHTS

Two of my friends have recently ordered motorcycles. Both anxiously wait for the big day to arrive. When they take possession and ride off to seek some fun and enjoyment with the new motorcycle will they have more fun then last year on the "old motorcycle"?

newness is something we all experience fairly often. Some of us get a new job, a baby, a new car, a new house, something new every year that we get to share like that new baby.

What will be the thing that puts the big smile on your face this year? I'm looking forward to a two-week motorcycle vacation with my wife Carol. That is what I see now as the big event of the year for me. Things do change your plans or upstage the event that you thought would be the best thing of the year. When change is not good you must make the best of it or slow your progress in life to worry, fret, or grieve before you are back on track. When you are on track you move ahead and enjoy your life. Off track we can flounder a bit and get into self pity at best or self-destructive behavior at worst. Having the same motorcycle for ten years is not the same thing as having the same passenger for ten years. Attachment to our motorcycle is really the same as attachment to a house, favorite tool or some other thing that we like or are comfortable with because we've had it for a long while. A passenger is a human being. There's attachment but it's based on mutual need and support unlike the motorcycle or house.

Do you have the motorcycle insurance paid, battery charged, the license sticker in place and all the other little duties for the 2001 riding season, done?

THE EDITORS COLUMN

Hooray!! It's Spring!!!!

Riding season is here and we have already had some nice enough days to go ride. Hope everyone has their bikes ready the first poker run of the season is April 22 in Junction Ohio. The hardest part about this season for me is when I look at my work schedule. I see a Sunday and it breaks my heart. This month lucky me my 12 hour Sunday is the 22 bumer..... But as my mom always told me there will be other days and other runs everyone has to pay the work when we don't want to price. Work that is a four letter word unless its work on a motorcycle or work dealing with a campout on a motorcycle the fun kind. Recently I have been looking at maps to discover new routes to cover there are always our favorites but we can incorporate those with some exploring . I can always find something new on an old route because the world is constantly changing just like the seasons with the best season arriving for us I hope you all rember to watch out for those who are not looking for you . I wish you all wonderful bike trips and enjoyable rides wherever you find yourself this season.
