He thanked Al Bastings for all the work he did drawing up the various shapes and colors of the different patches. The were on display on a 4x5 board. Bart mentioned how the weather was unable to stop the happy BMW campers. He thanked Gary Haydel for going out to camp early Friday to secure The great sites.

He also is an asset to members if they want to know something about computers and related problems. Wade and Belinda are expecting to be parents late this year. Congradulations!

Bart's Thoughts

Marking-up the calendar for this years rides I notice that I will be less active at the regular events I go to. I will still be riding about the same number of miles though. I'm looking forward to a western trip this year, missed the Oregon trip last year. This passed winter, as usual, I was thinking when will the good riding weather get here? Now the weather is warm and I think it was the warmth that I looked forward too more than the motorcycling. As much as I detest mowing grass and washing vehicles I'm even enjoying those things a little. Well not enjoying them but enjoying being outside with sun on my skin as I accomplish those and other detestable tasks. I got myself a Mazda sports car last month and it's as much fun as a motorcycle. Yeah! Well right now it is anyway. Got to get a new computer too. TV has been acting up for two years. Now so it will be replaced soon I expect. Why doesn't that old gold wing ever break down?

Editor's Column

June is here riding season is in full Swing. I had the pleasure of riding to the Cass West Virginia Rally this year. The Rally was wonderful. There was no rain the whole weekend while we were riding.

Sunday night it rained for a short period of time but we didn't care we were playing cards. The weather the mountains and roads are absolutely beautiful. The roads are a lot of curves. I like that. Then you come back to Ohio and see flat land bummer. The Rally had an observation run we went on and four of us tied for first place. There were very interesting observations on that ride. There was an interesting road off the beaten path too. The views off the sides of the mountain are awesome. Saturday night there was music and dancing. The usual campfire, where we passed a few bottles was very interesting. Joe Katz was there and he danced a few dances with us. He is an inspiration. The green bank telescope museum is building a new visitor center they are becoming very popular. This definitely was the rally to get away from it all. There are no cell phones that work in the valley. So no one to call and bug you. We went to Seneca rocks on Sunday and Seneca caverns. The sites were worth the trip. We also did some 20 miles down a dirt road to see the highest peak of a mountain. Some times I think I've lost my mind on those dirt roads. I hope you all are riding and get a chance to do a few rally's. The next big event for me is the National. Can't wait to go to Canada. That's all for now. Till next time ride safe!
